52 FRESH AIR CHILDREN FOR MORRISTOWN

The order for Fresh Air Children has gone in and the committee is proud of the way Morristown has responded to its appeal in behalf of the kiddies of the New York tenement districts. Invitations for 52 children were received. This would be a generous number under any circumstances, but when we consider that this is practically a new venture for this community—it has been so many years since Fresh Air Children were entertained here—and also that the response has been entirely voluntary, we feel that it is indeed a splendid record. This is the only town we know of where the work has ever been carried on without a canvas being made. The results not only justify the method employed here, but also speaks well for the big heartedness of the people of this locality. The credit is not all due to Morristown, however, as Craftsbury, Eden, Elmore, North Hyde Park and Wolcott have all applied for children from the Morristown group.

It is expected that the children for Morristown will arrive in Waterbury at 7:38 in the morning. They will be hungry and it will be a long time before some of them reach their destination. Therefore the committee is delighted to accept the offer of the Louise M. Slocum Class of the Universalist Church to furnish breakfast for the youngsters at Waterbury. Those in charge of getting the children from Waterbury here and then distributed to their places of entertainment thoroughly appreciate this invitation, and we feel safe in saying that the boys and girls will also be deeply grateful.

The attention of all those who are expecting to entertain children in their homes is called to the article headed "Instructions to Hosts," printed elsewhere in this paper.

FLEETWOOD FOR CONGRESS

Announcement Made Monday—Pleasing Reception by Both Press and Public—Sketch of Man's Life

Frederick G. Fleetwood has heeded the urgent call for him to enter the field as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman at the September primaries. He says: "I wish to thank the many voters who have promised me their support in case I should become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative to Congress from the First Congressional District of Vermont. I have decided to seek the nomination for such office at the primaries to be held September 12, 1922. If the voters of the District should see fit to nominate and elect me, I will make every effort to represent their interests and the interests of our country to the best of my ability. My platform is the platform of the Republican Party and of its great leader, President Harding."

"Frederick G. Fleetwood."

"Morristown, July 15, 1922."

Frederick Gled Fleetwood was born in St. Johnsbury, September 27, 1869. He was educated in St. Johnsbury Academy and in 1886 entered the University of Vermont, where he remained for two years, going then to Harvard, where he was graduated in 1891. Three years later he was admitted to the bar and was state's attorney for Lamoille county from 1896 to 1898. In 1900 he was a presidential elector on the Republican ticket and was chosen as messenger to carry the vote to Washington. He was elected secretary of state in 1902 and re-elected in 1904 and 1906. When Secretary of State Guy W. Bailey resigned his office in 1918 to become comptroller of the University of Vermont, Mr. Fleetwood was appointed by the governor as secretary of state to fill out the unexpired term, but was not a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Fleetwood needs no introduction to the people of Lamoille county. He is one of us; has gone in and out among our people for many years; is square in all his dealings; is loyal to all his friends; is a friend of everybody; always has a kind word for whoever he meets; always identified with everything that pertains to the public good; takes an active part in the promotion of whatever is best for his town and county. We might go on at great length along this line, but it is not necessary. Fred Fleetwood's name will meet with unanimous approval in his home county and will receive a strong endorsement throughout the district.

Barn Dance

Last Thursday night all roads led to the Delano farm. The occasion being the dedication of H. L. Delano and Sons mammoth new barn with a old-fashioned barn dance. This farm has been noted for many years as a place to go for a royal good time, but all gatherings of the past were but an eclipse of this great gathering. They began coming long before dark and continued to come until mid-night. After the 600 mark was reached, the tally men got discouraged and quit.

A six piece orchestra furnished fine music. The floor, 100x36 feet, was an ideal place to dance, and 100 couple had plenty of room and were not badly crowded when 51 more were added.

The ladies of the Uplift Club furnished refreshments from a booth, of a quality such as farm wives know how to produce.

Everything was in perfect order, not a disturbing feature from beginning to end, and all voted it one grand success.

Lamoille County Home Demonstration Department

Wednesday, July 19, the agent will be in Jeffersonville to conduct the second of a series of meetings on food.

Thursday, July 20, the agent will be in North Wolcott at the home of Mrs. Hall to continue work on the clothing project.

Friday, July 21, the first of a series of meetings on foods will be held in Johnson. The demonstration will be of eggs and milk dishes.

SUNDAY BASEBALL

If people can go pleasure riding in automobiles and play golf on Sunday, is it any worse for the Johnson town baseball team to hold a ball game next Sunday at three o'clock? If you like clean recreation drop around next Sunday after dinner. JEFFERSONVILLE VS. JOHNSON

Thursday at three o'clock a game will be played here.

As Candidate for County Senator. Reasons. Thanks Friends for Support.

Editor of the News and Citizen Morrisville, Vt.

Dear Sir: On account of the recent sad occurrence of which you all know and for other serious personal considerations which I could not foresee, I have decided that I cannot longer continue to be a candidate for the County Senatorship.

For the past several weeks I have put aside all thought of politics and cannot now bring myself to believe that I should continue the campaign.

I wish to take this opportunity to warmly thank my friends who have so generously supported my political cause.

GET YOUR TICKETS

For the Chautauqua Next Week—Be Ready When Solicitors Call to Tell How Many You Will Take

The solicitors for the great Chautauqua entertainments that start next week Thursday will canvass the village and town soon.

Talk it over now and determine how many tickets you will take.

This is not a money making affair. These high class entertainments are furnished at a nominal cost, on a guarantee by responsible citizens of the sale of a certain number of season tickets.

If anything is left after paying for these entertainments, it goes into a fund to provide entertainments next year.

We need not tell you that these entertainments are all of a very high grade. Everyone knows that Chautauqua could not succeed if they were not of the highest grade.

We pay here, for a season ticket, less than the cost of a seat to a single entertainment in the big cities of some of these attractions.

If anyone should be overlooked by the solicitors, which is very probable, tickets may be secured at Geo. P. Drown's Store.

GREAT GOLF MATCH

To be Held at Club Grounds Saturday

—New Record Made at Grounds As a result of the great interest taken in the playing of golf by both local and summer people in this part of the state, a golf match will be held at the Lamoille County Golf Club grounds next Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

The contest will be between members of the local club and some 20 members of the Mountain View Country Club of Greensboro. Most of the participants from Greensboro are our summer neighbors at Lake Caspian and among them are many good golf players. Among the visiting players will be such personages as Dr. B. H. Sanborn of the Sanborn Publishing Co., of Wellesley, Mass.; Dean George Howes, professor of Greek at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.; Hon. George Morrow of Chicago, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America, and F. A. Baginall, supervisor of schools at Adams, Mass. All people interested in golf are urged to be present. A match is expected to be played with Barton at a later date.

One of the local players, B. W. McFarland, established a new record for the grounds. He made the course in 33 strokes last Saturday. The course is in fine shape, and the scenic surroundings are hard to beat anywhere.

STOWE

Death of Miss Alice S. Cole

Miss Alice S. Cole died suddenly about five o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Emma Barrows, on Bridge street.

Miss Cole had been indisposed for several days, but had been about the house and walked over to the village Monday evening. Mrs. Martin Parker of Wolcott was a guest at the house over night and Miss Cole was planning to accompany her to Williamstown for a visit with friends Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Barrows, who slept with her sister, was awakened about five in the morning by a strange noise and found her breathing her last. Miss Cole was the daughter of the late Heman and Ruth Douglass Cole. She was born 67 years ago in Morristown and passed the most of her life in that town. She was housekeeper for 23 years for Martin Wheelock, who died last February. She came in April to make her home with Mrs. Barrows. Besides her sister she leaves two aunts, Mrs. Lucinda Davis, who also makes her home with Mrs. Barrows, and Mrs. E. W. Collins of Moscow. The funeral will be held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Barrows' home, with burial at Morristown Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelley and daughter, Beryl, who have been spending several days with Mr. Kelley's cousin, Mrs. R. L. Barrows, left Monday for their home in Hampton Beach, N. H. They were accompanied by Biddeford, Me., by Mr. Kelley's grandmother, Mrs. Annette Terrill, who will spend some time with her daughter, Miss Renie Smith. Mrs. Terrill has lived during the past two years with her granddaughter, Mrs. R. L. Barrows, of Olive street.

THE EARLE STORE

New Lawn Dresses

Just received this morning a line of Colored Lawn Dresses in tans, blues and browns, made up in very attractive styles, white organdie collars and cuffs, organdie tie, sized from 16 to 42 and priced at $3.00 and $3.50; less than it would cost to have one made.

Curtain Marquisettes

Another piece of the lovely Dotted Marquisette in white. There has been a good demand for this goods for fine curtains, so be sure you get your share.

Dove Underwear

Another lot of the lovely Dove Underwear just in. In the lot is the nainsook slip with a 20-inch hem; something a lady will appreciate.

VILAS WITHDRAWS

Late Report Takes His Name From Field

A special from St. Albans this morning announces the withdrawal of Martin S. Vilas as a candidate for Congress from this district. We have been unable to verify it, but the source was such that we believe it to be true.

INSTRUCTIONS TO HOSTS

All persons who have invited Fresh Air Children into their homes are asked to give careful attention to the following:

The children will arrive on Tuesday, August 1, and will return to New York on Tuesday, August 15. Watch this paper next week for instructions as to where and when to come for your guests.

As you probably already understand, the local committee has nothing to do about assigning the children to their places of entertainment. The management in New York attends to this part of the work and the children come all tagged to the person who is to care for them.

It sometimes happens that a party arrives at its destination with a shortage in number. This is due to one or two reasons: first, failure of children assigned to the party to report at the railroad station at the time of starting, and second, failure of children to pass the medical examination. We hope that there will be no shortage in our group, but if there should be, please remember that it is not the fault of the local committee.

It is requested by the Tribune Fund that the local committee keep in close touch with all hosts during the stay of the children. There may be questions to be answered or adjustments to be made. Should a child become ill or meet with an accident, communicate immediately with the local chairman, Miss R. Louise Slocum. Hosts are not expected to pay bills for medical attendance or nursing. The fund meets all such expenses.

Occasionally a child is home-sick. This generally occurs, if at all, early in the youngster's visit, and the best treatment for it will usually suggest itself to the kindhearted, motherly hostess. If, however, a child continues home-sick after a reasonable time, or if a child proves generally unruly, notify the chairman of the local committee and immediate arrangements will be made for the child's return to the city.

The Tribune Fund tries hard to send out only physically clean children, but once in a great while one escapes their vigilance. If a child is discovered to be unclean, report the case to the committee at once. They will either have the child properly cleaned up, at the Tribune's expense, or arrange for its immediate return to New York.

The parents of children will naturally be anxious to learn of the safe arrival at the vacation place. Hosts will help relieve this anxiety if they see to it that children write home soon after they reach their destinations.

Remember that these children of immigrant parents are Americans in the making. In a few years they will be the American voters. Nothing will do so much to Americanize them as the privilege of spending a fortnight in real American homes. Make an especial effort to emphasize the highest ideals of Americanism while they are with you.

The Tribune Fund does not ask, nor does it expect, that committees and hosts will provide more than simple hospitality. The change of environment and the chance to play out of doors and to breathe fresh air will do the children a world of good, and these things can be provided at almost no expense.

If there is any other information you would like in regard to the children or your duties as a host, don't hesitate to ask some member of the committee. They will be only too glad to answer your questions.

Watch this paper next week for further notices.

SWAFFORD'S SHOW NOT COMING

Latest report says that the Swafford Pavilion Theatre Stock Co. will not appear in Morristown as advertised in the Messenger. They are unable to secure a license.

HYDE PARK

Miss Dorothy Collins is assisting in the News and Citizen office. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Wright of Barre called on friends in town Saturday.

Miss Mary Rand of Morrisville is visiting with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sherwin.

Mrs. Marcell Conway and daughter of Washington, D. C., are spending the summer here.

Mrs. Alice Hulburd of Boston is spending a few weeks here, stopping with Mrs. Stella Goddard.

Mrs. N. G. Wood and granddaughter, little Sara Helen Shaw, were visitors in Morristown Monday.

Supt. R. D. McAllister and Clyde Brown, both attending summer school at Burlington, spent Sunday in town.

Ensign Harold Dawson, a special friend and classmate of Wakeman Thorp, was a guest at John Miner's the first of the week.

Dr. F. A. Petty, who died at Westford last Friday, was at one time a practicing physician here. He was a brother of the first wife of John Redmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Potter and daughter, Priscilla, and Mr. and Mrs. Ermine Boardman and three children of Wolcott were visitors at Harry Folsom's last Friday.

George Foss was a visitor in Burlington last Thursday, and took in the ball game. Mr. Foss in his younger days was a good ball player and still retains a great interest in the great American game.

An auction of household goods will be held at the Congregational Church parsonage next Saturday at 10:30 a. m. These are the personal property of Rev. Arthur Mercer, who will soon leave town for a much needed rest and perhaps a change of vocation. All articles for sale are in good condition and of value.

One hundred and sixty dollars worth of treasury savings certificates were sold through the local postoffice during the month of June. These certificates grant a 25 percent increase on an investment over a five-year period. The government needs financial help and the treasury department offers the people a patriotic and personally profitable opportunity to render assistance.

Impressive Dramatic Production by Hetty Jane Dunaway

Hetty Jane Dunaway, described as "a whole play in herself," will present next week Wednesday evening one of the most charming and attractive entertainments of the Chautauqua program. For several years, Miss Dunaway's production, "The Lady of the Decoration," has been conceded by critics to be one of the greatest successes of the Lyceum and Chautauqua.

The Community Chautauqua management announces that of all their high-grade attractions, none has drawn as much favorable comment or as many requests for return as Miss Dunaway.

"The Lady of the Decoration" is an appealing Japanese fantasy written by Fawny C. McCauley and arranged for the stage by Virginia Bowman DeWitt. Under Miss Dunaway's talented hand this fascinating story has become one of the most captivating and impressive dramatic productions upon any platform today.

Miss Dunaway makes her characters living realities and the production is so appropriately staged and costumed that the "Lady" seems to be moving before you in her Japanese setting. A musical accompaniment will complete the charm of this unusual play-reading whose popularity testifies to the American public's appreciation of high-grade and wholesome entertainment.—Advertising.

Boys! Girls!

Miss Mildred Hooker wishes to remind all the girls and boys between the ages of six and 14 of the Junior Chautauqua that same will open in connection with the regular Community Chautauqua. As you probably know, a play-leader will be there to take charge of the games, stories and songs that go with the Junior Chautauqua. I just want to suggest that you kiddies save all your pennies to buy a ticket to admit you to all the games, etc. This ticket will also entitle you to "take in" all the entertainments and I am willing to wager quite a bit that you will enjoy every one immensely.

The tickets are only $1.00 each and any quantity can be purchased of Miss Dorothy Tillotson. Come early for them.—Advertisement.
